

David Bell is currently ranked in the top 2% of Ray White Agents internationally, having being awarded a prestigious Alan White Elite Performer's award every year for the last 10 years, and throughout this time he has achieved an abundance of recognition for outstanding performance and customer service.

ELITE
PERFORMER 2016

He has earned huge respect from his large following of dedicated clients, not only because of his unrivalled knowledge of the real estate industry and the Rockhampton and C.Q. market, but also for his "7th sense" ability to value and market properties to achieve success more often and more satisfactorily to both buyer and seller. David has sold more properties than anyone else in the region and that is a direct result of his client acceptance, trustworthiness, market ability and knowledge and his no-nonsense, "good bloke" approach.

Of course, David has all the qualifications to allow him to operate, but he has continued to train and attend industry think-tanks both as a participant and a contributor, all of which brings world class techniques and methods to the Central Queensland real estate scene, in Ray White Rockhampton. His passion for all things real estate is obvious, but it doesn't stop there. He is a dedicated family man with wife and his 2 sons, and is a fanatical motor racing fan, both as a participant and spectator. His love of cars and anything that moves is always on the agenda.....

David Bell is a true success story, and incorporates everything that is today to ensure that he is at the cutting edge of real estate. David, as principal of Ray White Rockhampton, has hand picked the absolute top performers in every field to become the Ray White Rockhampton team. That is why they are without question, the number one agency in Central Queensland by a large margin.

In particular, David's sales associate, Amy Thompson is also a licenced real estate agent, and over the 4 years of working directly with David has become a very capable and talented real estate operator and when teamed with David Bell, together they become the most formidable real estate duo in the region.

David Bell and Amy Thompson are an easy choice when listing a property for sale - 0409 285 062 or 0457 285 026
